To Whom It May Concern ADCO Construction have carried out several CSA projects for Amgen Engineering Projects in our Production facility modules PM1 and PM2.

In PM1 they carried out an extensive stripe out and removal of an existing redundant production suite in tandem with the M&E contractors also conducting survey works to existing underground services prior to isolations and the demolition of structural walls floors and partitions.

Also in PM1 ADCO carried out Fire protection works to existing offices supplying installing and upgrading doors, windows and various fire escape routes to meet Fire Certificate standards.

In PM2 ADCO installed countless Partition walls, Ramps, Doors and Ceilings also constructing Plinths for Process equipment.

All of the above works were carried out in a safe and Professional manner with ADCO adhering to all the Amgen standards and requirements needed to execute these tasks safely and to a high standard of finish. We hope this information is of benefit and should anyone require further detail please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely,
